

Where to find climate data online

The best place to find climate data online for northwest California is on our website, www.weather.gov/eka From there go to the climate tab → Local.

Or go there directly: <https://w2.weather.gov/climate/index.php?wfo=eka>

1. Daily max and min temperatures and rainfall.
 - a. Go to the “Observed Weather” tab
 - b. Select “Daily Climate Report”
 - c. Select a station
 - d. Select the date
 - e. Click “Go”
2. For daily data from each day of the month
 - a. Go to the “Observed Weather” tab
 - b. Select “Preliminary Monthly Climate Data”
 - c. Select a station
 - d. Select the date
3. For a summary of the month
 - a. Go to the “Observed Weather” tab
 - b. Select “Monthly Weather Summary”
 - c. Select a station
 - d. Select the date
 - e. Click “Go”
4. Daily records and year
 - a. Go to the “NOWData” tab
 - b. Select “Eureka Area”
 - c. Select “Calendar Day Summaries”
 - d. Select the weather element you want ex. “Min Temperature”
 - e. Then select “Min Daily” and click “Go”.
5. Accumulated seasonal rainfall - 2 ways
 - a. NOWData -
 - i. Select “Accumulation Graphs”
 - ii. Select “Precipitation” and select desired date range
 - iii. Hover mouse over the graph to get data
 - b. Daily Climate Report (for Eureka only)
 - i. Go to the “Observed Weather” tab
 - ii. Select “Daily Climate Report”
 - iii. Select a station
 - iv. Select the date
 - v. Click “Go”
 - vi. At the bottom of the page it has “Percent of seasonal normal”, “So far this season” and “Last season’s total”.